Record rainfall drenches Glades

By JEFF BROWN

It's been raining rather heavily now for about a week and a half. Every day. How heavy? Heavy enough to spoil a three day Memorial Day weekend for many.

Heavy enough to convert the Glades Day School football jamboree into an aquatic football tournament.

Heavy enough to flood out the Red Cross barbeque at the Belle Glade Marina Sunday. Their revenues dropped from $1,000 last year to less than $200 at this years event.

Heavy enough to flood the roads in Airport Park. You could almost run the heart trail in a row boat.

Not good enough, you say? You want some waterlogged stats?

Well how about this: in the month of May 1982, 11.84 inches of rain fell in the Glades, according to Larry Schwandes of the University of Florida's Glades Agricultural Research and Education Center in Belle Glade.

The previous record, set in 1978, was 11.42 in-

In an average year, 5.03 inches fall on the Glades in May.

So what, you may be saying. All that rain could have fallen throughout the month. There are four weeks in it, you know.

But prior to Saturday, May 22, only 17 inches of precipitation hit the Glades last month.

That means in the last ten days, over 11 inches of water were dumped here.

"Heavy rain does not last long."

Italian proverb

Rain every day for the past ten days has shown up in the lake level. Prior to Wednesday, which saw flood proportions of water dropped in Clewiston, the level of Lake Okeechobee was 10.75 feet.

Early this week, it registered 11.46 feet, a rise of about eight inches.

So it turns out that not all proverbs are true. That's why there are so many of them. You can always find one to suit your purpose.

For our present purpose, maybe William Shakespeare said it best: "The rain, it raineth every day."

On the receiving end of satellite signals

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE - In the future, things are going to be different.

Technology will make life easier for men and women.

With fuel short, we will no longer use internal combustion powered automobiles. Perhaps we will use electronically driven helicopter type machines to hop from place to another.

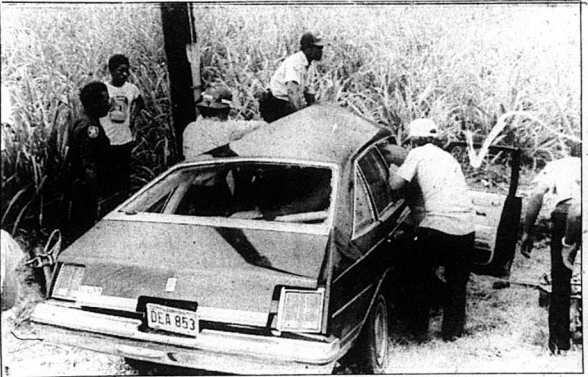

Entertainment, too, will change. Television screens will be huge, perhaps even bigger than the four to eight foot models on the market now.

And cable may seem a wave of the future right now, but by then it will be old hat. Everybody will have their own signal receiving dish on the roof.

For two Pahokee residents, a small part of that future is becoming a reality today.

Alvis Davis of Bacom Point Road and Hugo Raineri each have dishes in their yards capable of picking up satellite signals. A down converter can make these signals appear on the screen as pictures and sounds.

There are 19 satellites hovering over about 23,000 miles over the Earth that reflect signals back to this hemisphere of the globe. Sat Com

South Bay looking for firemen

SOUTH BAY—The City of South Bay is looking for few good men. The city is presently in the process of re-activating its volunteer fire department.

Byron Walker of South Bay has asked the City Commission and Public Safety Director Charles Forrest to start up the city volunteer firemen program.

In a fatal fire in South Bay on Tuesday, May 25, Charles Warren Brown, of 244 N.W. Third St., lost his life.

Walker lived next door to Brown and said he felt that if more firemen had been available to fight the fire, Brown's life might have been saved.

"I remember the time in South Bay when the community really turned out to help fight a fire. It's in the best interest to get a volunteer fire department for the city," said Walker.

He also suggested the volunteers consist of people who live in South Bay.

The City of South Bay presently has three paid firemen. At the time of the fire, the city only had two paid firemen.

Forrest told the Commission he presently has a list of persons willing to serve as volunteers and has spoken to the State Fire Marshall and he has agreed to assist the city with bi-monthly training sessions.

Forrest said guest speakers will be brought in to assist with the training.

Mayor Donald Tanner presented a plaque to fireman Johnnie Parchment for outstanding professional performance under adverse condition.

Parchment was the only paid South Bay fireman at the May 25 fire.

Volunteers which included Byron Walker and officers from the Glades substation of the Sheriff Department also helped fight the fire.

Walker said the fire next door brought closer to home the reason why the Commission should not change its present lot size requirement for building new houses.

Walker said the house next door to Brown, which is approximately 30 feet away, sustained damages in the fire. Walker said the house's aluminum siding melted.

In other business before the commission:

The first reading of an ordinance calling for the city's alcoholic beverage zones was passed.

Roland Benson of the Florida State Employment Service asked the Commission to search for funds to assist with housing developments for Haitians and Jamaicans.

Satellite—

feed horn directly at the satellite.

The signal can be bounced off the spherical or parabolic dish towards the earth. The dish is designed and the feed horn placed in such a manner that all signals are reflected directly at the horn no matter where they hit on the dish.

The horn feeds the signal, which is reflected back to Earth at between 3.7 and 4.2 gigahertz, to a down converter which slows the signal down to a megahertz ratio. Gigahertz express the signal in billions of cycles per second and megahertz in millions of cycles per second.

The signal from the down converter is picked up on the channel three spot on any television.

A satellite can reflect up to 24 signals.

Twelve of the stations can be received on the antenna when the feed horn and LNA are set on the horizontal position and 12 can be received on the vertical position.

Sat Com III is the only satellite which transmits 24 signals to this region of the hemisphere, according to Davis.

Davis' antenna is set on a trailer and he said the wind and swaying often affect the reception. Another factor is surrounding obstacles such as trees.

"I don't have a clear shot at the satellite," he said.

"I'm in a better spot," said Rainieri, who has also set his antenna on a cement base built into the ground.

One advantage of the antenna is picking up the network shows before they are transmitted over the airwaves for the general public.

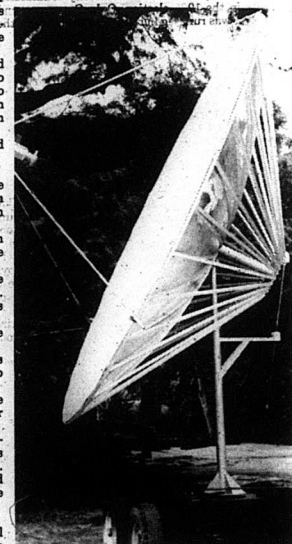

Davis said the viewer can often see the preparations which go into the show before those scenes are cut out in the editing room before broadcast. Cameras can be seen being moved into place and the television commentator or personality can be viewed as his hair is fixed.

There are fewer commercials too.

Networks often designate time spots for local commercials and when the signal is picked up directly from the satellite without the local station as an intermediary, those time slots are often filled with music.

Davis currently subscribes to a cable television service but plans to have it disconnected.

"I have no need for it now," he said. "I'll just put up a VHF antenna."

THE DESIGN of the antenna's dish is called "parabolic." It is built in such a way to reflect signals back to the tip of the antenna, no matter where they hit on the dish.

Suit alleges inequality

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE — Two Belle Glade residents have filed a class action suit in the Fort Lauderdale United States District Court, accusing the city government of practicing racial discrimination in its policies.

Willie Joe Davis, who had previously filed a complaint with the U.S. Department of Treasury alleging that revenue sharing funds have been used by the city in a discriminatory fashion, and Robert E. Jones filed the suit naming as defendants Mayor Thomas L. Altman, City Manager Rolfe Wagner and Commissioners Charles D. Goodlett, William Grear, Claude A. Tindall and George Gofforth and City Clerk June H. Boglioli.

The plaintiffs claim that the electoral process in the city is discriminatory towards blacks and that it's set up to dilute the black population's voting strength.

Davis and Jones contended that the black voting strength is diluted in several manners:

- The city code requires city office holders to be "free holders," or property owners, according to the suit, "disenfranchising" approximately 80 percent of the black voters in the city.

The city government is following a policy which will result in rental housing rather than low-cost, "affordable ownership type housing, thus manufacturing another generation of disenfranchised Blacks," according to Davis and Jones.

The suit claims that the Zoning Board and Health and Housing Departments are in "silent and complacent conspiracy with the mayor and city commissioners" on this matter.

- The suit also alleges that the criminal justice system in the Belle Glade isn't fair towards Blacks and that an "unfair percentage" of Blacks who pass through the system are convicted of felonies and sentenced to "what, in effect, are 'life sentences,' thus, removing these from the candidate or voting roles.

The suit also alleges that to a section of the city code which provides that "no citizen of said city shall be entitled to register as an elector until he or she has been a bona fide resident of and domiciled in the city for not less than one year at the time he or she registers."

This section effectively disenfranchises Black property owners who engage in seasonal work out of state for part of the year.

The plaintiffs argued that that section gives the area a "plantation-type status."

Davis and Jones claimed that the at-large voting system has discouraged Blacks from running for elective office and that, because of it, the Blacks who have run for office have had "minimal success."

The suit alleges that all Black candidates have to run against each other in the West Borough because that borough has been set aside by the city for the "Negro race."

The suit mentions that Jones, William Grear and Dorothy Walker all ran for city commission seats in the 1981 election. Only Grear won and Walker was running in the East Borough, not the West.

This system prevents enough Blacks from taking office to "effect real change in the Black community."

• The plaintiffs also claimed that the harm inflicted on the Black vote by the system is "magnified by the fact that the general election in Belle Glade shall be held on the first Tuesday after the second Monday, in September of each year."

City Manager Rolfe Wagner said he was not yet familiar enough with the suit or the facts surrounding it to comment on it.

Jones and Davis asked the court to declare municipal code sections cited in the suit unconstitutional and to issue a permanent injunction which would restrain the city from conducting any city elections under the at-large voting system.

They also requested the court divide the city into wards or precincts and prevent the city clerk or supervisor of elections from preventing the registration of Blacks who do seasonal work in other states for a portion of the year.

The suit also asked the court to order a new election under the ward or precinct system, and to grant the plaintiffs their costs and attorney's fees and any additional relief it deems appropriate.

NO ONE WAS INJURED but a man charged with violation of the right of way in this Monday morning, May 31, accident. Manuel Aguilar, 18, of Clewiston, allegedly pulled into the path of an auto driven by Charles Leon Durham, 22, of Runyon Village, on SR 15, according to Florida Highway Patrol Trooper J.M. Brown. A passenger in the Aguilar vehicle, Isidro Benitez, 15, of Clewiston, was also unhurt.

Perspective

Never forget our war dead

We need to make sure that Memorial Day never becomes just another holiday, just another excuse for taking a day off from work.

Memorial Day of 1982 has come and gone. It would be interesting to know how many of us reflected for a few minutes Monday on the true meaning of the day.

Our freedom to enjoy this day was made possible by the blood sacrifice of fighting men and women in wars stretching back to the American Revolution.

Let us remember our war dead of all wars. We must not forget the price they paid for the liberty we enjoy.

HEART TRAIL at Belle Glade's Airport Park was accessible by boat after 10 days of rain this week. A record amount fell on the area during the month.

Boyd said the concrete beams have become more economical as a result of the rising price of wooden beams and a shortage of steel.

History of the Everglades taken from our back issues

20 YEARS AGO
THE BELLE GLADE HERALD
MAY 31, 1962

The Belle Glade City Commission selected Fifth Street as the location for the new bridge across the Hillsboro Canal which Commissioner Paul Rardin offered to build.

The Belle Glade Memorial Hospital had an average daily population for the past year of 84 percent and local residents believed that more room was needed for beds.

Nurses said more beds, along with more equipment and other facilities, including delivery rooms, operating rooms and laboratory equipment, were needed.

Local doctors reported a loss of non-emergency patients because of fear of "hall beds" at the local hospital.

William Burke was named head football coach for the coming year at Belle Glade High School and Harry Davis was chosen as the athletic director.

Davis had served as athletic director and football coach for a number of years at Moss Point High School in Mississippi before coming to Belle Glade and Burke had been a line coach at Belle Glade High School for the preceding four years.

20 YEARS AGO
THE BELLE GLADE HERALD
MAY 30, 1962

The County Commission made a uniform closing schedule for liquor stores unanimous by conforming with city ordinances of Pahokee, Belle Glade and South Bay.

The decision was made in compliance with the unanimous request of the three municipalities. The Herald reported that several Glades communities found that unless uniform hours were enforced, there was a lot of bootlegging within communities and considerable traveling from one to the other for late hour "joy-rides."

With the county's action, all bars in western Palm Beach County would close at the same time, including the bars in the unincorporated area.

Dr. R.V. Allison, vice director of the Everglades Experiment Station, left that week for New York, the first stop to be the Philippine Islands.

Dr. Allison was to inspect the work being done with soft fiber (kenaf and ramie) crops which were getting under way in the islands.

Concrete was authorized by the county commission as a replacement for wood and steel in the construction of bridges.

The commission adopted a plan submitted by County Engineer J.M. Boyd to use concrete beams which could be built at the county maintenance headquarters.

Boyd said the concrete beams have become more economical as a result of the rising price of wooden beams and a shortage of steel.

40 YEARS AGO
THE BELLE GLADE HERALD
MAY 29, 1922

World War II continued to claim headlines as the Belle Glade Defense Council advertised a film made in England which contained scenes of the air attack being delivered by the German Luftwaffe on Great Britain.

The film was billed in The Belle Glade Herald as both entertainment and educational in content. It was being shown at the Belle Glade High School gym, along with three U.S. Navy films.

Airplanes made other headlines in plea for civilians to be trained and used as aircraft spotters under the Army's civil defense program.

Howard Hane of Belle Glade was among the "big shots from little burgs" who went to Washington to testify before a fact-finding committee on Mexican tomatoes.

Haney said the Mexican growers speaking before the committee, appointed by the Tariff Commission, were, "the greatest bunch of philanthropists I've ever heard of."

"They testified," Haney said, "that they were afraid the people of the U.S. wouldn't have tomatoes to eat if the tariff was not reduced 60 cents per package to enable them to continue to grow tomatoes for the 'dear people' of Uncle Sam."

Work on the Belle Glade Golf Course was begun and the holes were expected to be laid out within two to three weeks.

Herald-Observer wins award

We were recently notified that the Herald-Observer has won a Florida Press Association (FPA) award for agricultural writing.

The award is for a story on the Floyd Erickson family and their mango business at Canal Point. The story appeared in the Herald-Observer last year.

We will find what the award is during the FPA Better Weekly Newspaper Awards Luncheon Friday, June 11, at the Palm Beach Hyatt.

As important as agriculture is to our area, we are very proud to receive an award for our reporting on this vital subject.

We will keep you posted on how we do.

How 'bout the rain we've been getting lately? It's a blessing, it's long overdue and we love it.

I'd almost forgotten how hard it can rain in the Glades, how water stays on the roads, and how difficult it becomes to tell where the canals are, because everything looks like one big canal.

Did you ever wonder where all those frogs come from after a big rain? I must have ran over about 5,000 of them the other night coming back from a football jamboree in Naples.

The grass is getting greener and the lake is rising. What more could we ask?

We will be coming out with the next installment of the Boiler Plate Nice Guy Awards in the near future. If you can think of a deserving person you would like to see recognized, give me a call.

Pahokee. The petition claimed all the land involved was at least 0.7 miles from the business district, was all occupied by farmers and had never benefited from incorporation in the town limits.

There were, according to the suit, no roads, water main, sanitary facilities or fire and police protection.

The suit claimed the special act which incorporated the community hadn't been legally advised and the landowners weren't aware of it until too late.

With county primaries coming up, there 1,182 Democrats in six precincts in the Glades registered to cast their ballots.

With more than 2,000 voters registered in the Glades in 1932, The Everglades News said only 278 votes were recorded in 1928 and 295 had voted in a 1930 primary which generated a great deal of interest.

2 graduates from University of Florida

Red Cross barbecue goes on despite rain

OKAY GUYS LET PLAY FAIR. The Belle Glade paid and volunteer fire fighters played to tie in the water barrel fight before the volunteers won the event.

staff photos by Alma Henry

BELLE GLADE—The daily pouring down of rain in the Glades has been good for Lake Okechobee and the dry lawns in the Glades, however the steady drizzle of rain Sunday spelled doom for the American Red Cross Barbecue and fire-a-matics competition.

The second annual Red Cross benefit barbecue was held at the Belle Glade Marina to raise funds for a local office for the agency.

The American Red Cross expected more than 500 people at Sunday's event and only approximately 100 persons attended. According to Pat Sims of the American Red Cross, the agency did not go in the red.

"We only raised $175.00, and we are just thankful we did not lose any money," she said.

Mrs. Sims said the funds raised Sunday brings the total to $2,903 the agency has so far in its Glades office fund.

Last year $2,500 was raised at the barbecue.

The Belle Glade volunteer fire fighters defeated last year's winner, the Belle Glade paid fire fighters to win the fire-a-matics competition.

The volunteers won the first event, the bunker coat race. The paid staff won the bucket brigade and the volunteers won the final event the water battle.

The Glades General Ambulance Service also participated in the competition.

Members of the winning team were Frankie Miller, Hal Weeks, Doug Cooper and Doug Manger.

The Belle Glade K-9 unit also presented a demonstration and Skip and Debbie of Pahokee also performed.

Ms. Sims said the "The Glades Area American Red Cross wishes to thank those who braved the inclement weather on Sunday to attend the Red Cross barbecue at the Belle Glade Marina."

She also said Red Cross volunteers will be meeting to discuss a more appropriate date for next year's event.

Persons wishing to make a donation to Red Cross Glades Office Fund may contact Pat Sims or Jerry Krinn, the Red Cross disaster director at the American Red Cross.

FILLER UP. Devon Edwards of the Belle Glade paid fire fighters team tries his best to fill his bucket in a record time in hopes of helping his team win the competition. Edwards attempt however was in vain. The volunteers won the the competition.

RETURN THE BUCKET PLEASE. The Belle Glade paid fire department received help from the rain in filling up the trash can full of water in the fire-a-matics competition.

FOOTBALL IN MAY? The Glades Day School Glators hosted their jamboree Friday, May 28. They beat the Moore Haven

Terriers in the first quarter, but lost to Lake Placid in the fourth. Above, the Terriers take the offense against the Glators.

Football?

Gators host jamboree, split in two quarters of play

BELLE GLADE - The Glades Day Glators won one quarter and lost the second in a football jamboree at the school Friday, May 28.

The Glators went up against the Moore Haven Terriers in the first quarter and, under the leadership of quarterback Raul Garcia, scored seven while preventing the Terriers from crossing the goal line.

Lake Placid and LaBelle, the other teams in the four-way jamboree, knocked heads in the second quarter. Lake Placid won that quarter 14-0.

Moore Haven was turned away in the third quarter when LaBelle held them scoreless but picked up six points in overtime.

Lake Placid came out on top in the fourth quarter, outscoring the Glators 14-0.

Garcia quarterbacked for the Glators through most of the first quarter before substitute John Hundley came in to call the plays.

In the last quarter, Brian Lohmann was given a turn at the reins before passing them back to Garcia, who Coach Byron Walker, Jr. said is expected to return as the starter in the fall.

Walker expressed guarded optimism after the team's performance in the rain drenched jamboree. Most of the quarters were played in downpours which had earlier in the day flooded the athletic area of the campus.

"All things considered, we looked okay," said Walker. "We mixed our teams up, the first team didn't play the whole time. We know what we have to work on for the fall."

"I wouldn't say I'm optimistic right now, but I'm not pessimistic either."

The Glators lost one interception in each quarter and fumbled once, but recovered it. Walker expects the Glators to continue the strong ground game this year, but adds that the team will be throwing this fall.

"We run a ground game offense," he said. "but we'll throw the ball this year maybe 10 or 12 times each game."

The Glators first regular season game is Sept. 10. They participate in a jamboree in Lake Placid Sept. 3.

A GREAT BANK PLUS A GREAT MORTGAGE COMPANY EQUALS GREAT NEWS FOR FLORIDA

It's a balanced equation. Because no one knows Florida better than Florida National — one of the state's largest financial institutions. And no one knows the mortgage business like Charter Mortgage — one of the largest mortgage bankers in Florida.

Now as partners, we've created a winning formula for Florida. As the newest addition to the Florida National family, Charter Mortgage works in cooperation with our 100 statewide offices to enable us to serve all your financial needs better. That means new markets for them, backed by our strength, stability and assets.

For Florida, the acquisition provides more money and more ways to finance the state's rapidly expanding housing and construction needs. And now, for the first time, Florida National can offer the full range of conventional loans including wrap-around, variable, and adjustable rate mortgages, as well as low-cost FHA and VA mortgages, to homeowners. That means more and better services for all of our customers.

When you learn a great bank with a great mortgage company, the equation can only add up to great news for Florida.

Great State. Great People. Great Bank.

Drivers license waiting room to be built

PAHOKEE — Mayor Duncan Padgett has been trying to get Florida licensed drivers out of the sun for close to three years now, and it looks like his efforts are going to pay off.

The state Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles notified Padgett last week that, in a large part due to his efforts, a waiting room will be constructed on the west corner of the Florida Highway Patrol building in Pahokee for the convenience of those waiting for their licenses to be processed.

Padgett had been lobbying with state officials since 1979 in an attempt to get the waiting room built. At a city council meeting last month, Padgett read a letter from the governor's office which informed him that a previous bid on the construction had been too high, but that the department was seeking other means to have the room built.

In a letter from the department dated May 21, Padgett was informed that the construction is expected to begin June 17 and should be completed by December 13.

The Florida Department of Corrections will be the contractor.

Executive interns recognized

By ALMA HENRY

BELLE GLADE—Students participating in a unique intern program sponsored the School Board of Palm Beach County gave more than 500 hours of community service time and gained practical work experience.

Eight students from Glades Central High and Pahokee High Schools recently culminated a 15 week Executive High School Internship Program.

During the 15 week internship the students gave time to agencies as diverse as the City of Belle Glade/Finance Department, Belle Glade Health Center, Everglades Federal Savings and Loans Association, Glades General Hospital, dental practice of Dr. George White and the Herald-Observer.

At a luncheon held to honor the executive interns, Charles White, and associate of the program said "the hours of services given by the students would have cost taxpayers quite a bit of money if they had been paid the minimum wage".

"The training the students received and the services performed were invaluable", White said. He also said the executive internship program tried to match up students with agencies that were in some way related to their career goals.

He pointed out, however, that although the community agencies involve benefited from the internship, the students also were rewarded. While they did not receive any money, they did however receive academic credit.

"The intern program contributes to the motivation of the students and gives them the opportunity to experience the real work world," he said.

William Underwood, assistant financial director for the City of Belle Glade said two students were placed under his supervision.

Shelia Alexander and Juanita Gainous of Glades Central Community School, according to Underwood found themselves learning to operate many of the finance department machines.

Underwood said the duo used the MCR 999 computer, which is used by the city for its water and sewer billings.

"The internship was real good for the students and it exposed them to a real business climate and the general working of a financial operation," said Underwood.

He also said Alexander and Gainous were shown how to operate several data processing computers.

Rebecca Mapp of Pahokee was the only student from Pahokee in the program.

Miss Mapp, an aspiring commercial artist, was assigned to the office of the Herald-Observer in Belle Glade.

During the internship at the Herald-Observer, Miss Mapp worked both in editorial and advertising.

She was taught the art of pasting up ads, the use of the MDT 350 type setting machine, photography, reporting and newspaper paste-up.

Lucricia Kight of Glades Central High School, who plans to attend Bethune Cookman College in Daytona and Fisk University to study dentistry, interned under Dr. George White.

Dr. White has a dental practice at 324 SW. 5th St., Belle Glade.

Miss Kight, president of the Student Council of Glades Central, received a scholarship from the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority to help finance her education towards a degree in dentistry.

The Belle Glade Health Center was the site of an internship for Barbara Bulgoin and Jacqueline Berry of Glades Central. Mrs. Betty Kroesen served as the supervisor.

Beverly Tucker interned at Everglades Federal Savings and Loan Association and Mrs. Echol Painters was her supervisor.

Internist Carol Faust interned at Glades General Hospital under the supervision of Zola Yates and Dr. Mario Ramos.

ASPIRING COMMERCIAL ARTIST Rebecca Mapp of Pahokee High School was the only representative from her school to participate in the Executive Internship program. Miss Mapp interned at the Herald-Observer newspaper office in Belle Glade.

Local student graduates from seminary

LOUISVILLE, KY.—Donald E. Siver, Jr. of Miami, son of Mr. & Mrs. D.E. Siver, Sr. of Belle Glade, received the Master of Divinity degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary during 149th commencement ceremonies in Louisville, May 21. He is one of approximately 280 members of the first graduating class under the presidency of Roy L. Honeycutt, elected in February as the seminary's eighth president. John Lewis, pastor of First Baptist Church, Raleigh, N.C., delivered the commencement address to graduates from the schools of theology, religious education and church music.

Founded in 1859, Southern Seminary is the largest independent college or graduate school in Kentucky and represents the oldest theological institution in the Southern Baptist Convention.

Foundation fights disease independently

BELLE GLADE—"We have had our struggles, and although many community based organizations have fell along the wayside, the National Organization for Sickle Cell Anemia is well and alive," said Dr. Gerald V. Williams, executive director of the New Orleans Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation.

Dr. Williams was the keynote speaker at the El Dorado Civic Club Fifth Annual Awards and Benefit Sickle Cell Anemia Banquet.

Speaking to a crowd of approximately 250 at the Belle Glade Country Club, Dr. Williams said the "Foundation future does not depend on Reaganomics."

"We (the national organization of SCA) were not founded with federal dollars and we will not die with federal dollars," he said.

"The national organization came after the grassroots Sickle Cell Anemia Foundations," he said.

One of the founders of the New Orleans Chapter, Williams started the chapter with $25. Today, the Foundation annually offers $500,000 worth of services to the community.

He said the New Orleans Chapter was once criticized by the community for refusing to accept a federal grant. "Today the citizens of New Orleans praise us for not accepting the grant," he said.

Williams said there is much to be done in the fight against Sickle Cell Anemia. He encourages local organizations to wake-up and once again take an active campaign against the disease.

He said much research is being done and that local agencies are encouraged to work in areas in which corporate and governmental funds are not poured into.

"I suggest local agencies assist local victims with their medical bills, and educate the local community on the need for Sickle Cell screenings," Williams said.

The average cost per year for the treatment of Sickle Cell Anemia is approximately $3,000 to $4,000. "The majority of the victims neither have insurance nor qualify for medicare," Williams said.

Following Williams' address, Dan Calloway, a member of the Palm Beach County Commission presented the Outstanding Student Award to Lucretia Knight and Eddie Coffie.

Miss Knight is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knight. She was president of the Student Council and was selected as Miss Glades Central Community School.

Miss Knight also was a debutante, an honor graduate and selected to Who's Who Among American High School students.

Edwin Coffie is the son of Mrs. Mylissa Coffie. He was vice-president of the Student Council, a member of the Glades Central Chorus and active in many school activities. Both Miss Knight and Coffie will be attending Bethune Cookman College in Daytona in September.

Other award recipients were Lewis Butts and Lomie Lee Devose, Jr. They were honored for community service to the youth of the community.

Butts and Devose serve as coaches for the youth basketball, football and softball teams.

The Community Service award was presented to Mrs. Ethel Barnes of Pahokee, Mrs. Gladys G. Ganzy, Mrs. Mylissa Coffie, Mrs. Gloria Whitley and Mrs. Hattie Fields, all of Belle Glade.

Mrs. Barnes is president of the Tenant Association of the Pahokee Housing Authority, matron of the Heronettes of Jericho and was a representative to a special Conference on Aging at the White House during Jimmy Carter's Administration. She is active in many community organizations.

Honoree Mylissa Coffie operates a boarding home for boys. Over 100 boys have been reared in her home. There are presently seven boys living with Mrs. Coffie. Mrs. Coffie said her home is operated on "love" and there are never any arguments in her home.

Honoree Hattie Fields is the director of the Community Action Council South Bay-Belle Glade Truist Area.

Mrs. Fields started the program in a church with 35 students and today more than 200 students are serviced by the agency.

Recipient Gladys G. Ganzy has been a Girl Scout leader in Belle Glade for 10 years.

She is a member of the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Center Advisory Board, the Executive Board of the Glades Festival of Afro Arts and the recent recipient of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority Community Service Award. Mrs. Ganzy is employed by the City of Belle Glade in the Department of Planning and Community Development.

Recipient Gloria Whitley is a teacher at Lake Shore Elementary School and is an avid supporter of the Palm Beach County Safety Patrols. The El Dorado Civic Club also presented Charles Todd, the Toastmaster of the Year Award.

Mr. Todd has served as toastmaster for the annual event for the past six years.

Other awards went to Dr. Williams, and Martin Rainey, president of the Florida Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation.

Monetary awards were presented to Sickle Cell Anemia victims, Mrs. Morticelle Thomas and her two children and Calvin Oliver.

The El Dorado Civic Club also received a donation from the Elden Corporation, operators of the Belle Glade Country Club, during the banquet.

Among the many dignitaries in attendance at the banquet were Mayor and Mrs. Thomas Altman of Belle Glade and Mayor Eva Mack of West Palm Beach.

Mrs. Mack is the president of the Palm Beach County Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation.

Appearing on the program were Willie Pyfrom, Juanita Edwards, Rosa M. Asberry, Mrs. Mack, Vivian Byrd, Alberta Culler, Rev. Alvin Jones, Dorothy Davis, LeVoyse Taylor and Betty Evans.

Glades Central Community School musical duo, Willie Lawrence and Eddie Coffie presented a melody of songs.

Hiwatha Plair presented musical moments for the social hour.

Mrs. Vivian Byrd served as chairman of the event. Mrs. Dorothy Davis, Mrs. Rosa M. Asberry and Mrs. Juanita Edwards served as co-chairpersons.

Other El Dorado Club members are Winford Tolbert, Morticelle Thomas, Debra Benjamin, Clatette Clark, Gloria Collie, Gloria Whitley, Bernice Smith, Albert Culler, Dorothy Glaze, Mattie Bethes, Dorothy Cross, Corine Fields, Bernice Simmons, Patricia Seabrooks, Claudia Crosbie, Daisy Butts, Drucilla Davis, Doris Harrell, Mattie Mack, Betty Evans, Monica Best and Gloria Blakely.

'Hope' star Maroney proves picture perfect

Kelli Maroney

Everyone at "Another World" was saddened by the death of veteran actor Hugh Marlowe who succumbed to heart attack on May 2nd.

Marlowe appeared on "AW" consistently from early 1949 when he began the role of "AW" family head, J. Matthews. His film credits included "All About Eve," "Meet Me in St. Louis," and "12 O'Clock High." His last appearance on "AW" was April 30th.

Mr. Marlowe is survived by his wife, Florence, and their son Hugh Marlowe II, and two sons, Jeff and Christopher (who played Andy Marriott on "Love of Life") by his first

Two CBS-TV soaps will be taking to the tropics during the month of July. "As the World Turns" will air scenes taped in Jamaica, and "Guiding Light" will broadcast scenes shot in St. Croix. The scenes for "GL" will feature Jennifer Cooke (Morgan) and John Wesley Shipley (Kelly) and Robert Newman (Josh). The "ATWT" group consists of Margaret Colin (Margo), Julie T. Deas (Tom), Judith Blazer (Ariel) and Larry Bryggman (John). Things are bound to get steamy since these storylines are all of a romantic nature.

If pubs and bistros didn't exist, television would have invented them. Presenting scriptwriters with an excellent informal locale for character interaction, the neighborhood watering hole forms the backdrop for much of programming both day and night. Cheap to construct, multipurpose and full of life, the taproom set is a series staple that has come to be used more and more as an opening up device for domestic comedies and dramas alike.

Next season, for example, NBC plans to air a sitcom titled "Cheers" which is the name of a bar run by a former baseball player. The show, complete with kooky cocktail waitresses and wizenut barkeeps, will be just the most recent addition to a television tradition which portrays the pub as microcosm of American life, a diverse cross-section replete with lovers and enemies, heroes and sickies.

from broadcast to print. And one of the most interesting variations on the post war bar is the ramshackle canteen run by Rosie on "M*A*S*H." There the men and women of the 4077 would go to relieve the pressures of the Korean War, a release that for Radar required no more than a Orange Nehi.

Jackie Gleason as Joe the Bartender

So resilient is that tradition in fact that it was called upon to revive the ratings winner "All in the Family" when its original living-room-based format began to flag with age. Suddenly Archie was out, and his easy chair tending bar at the pet Queens bar that bore his name.

ing the easy-going camaraderie and pulsating flow of life common to many neighborhoods. For example, even though crisis after crisis is played out against the backdrop of the bar in "Ryan's Hope," the pub itself stands as a symbol of goodwill and the strength of family ties. So comfortable is the image of the television bar, in fact, that even the hopelessness of Crisis Guggenheim's drunkener on the Jackie Gleason "The Jack Benny Show" seemed humorous. When Joe the Bartender sponged the spilled beer off the counter, it was as if he was wiping away all the problems patrons left at his doorstep.

Career Day held at Lake Shore

BELLE GLADE—Students at Lake Shore Middle School observed Career Day on Wednesday, May 19. Approximately 20 speakers representing an array of professions gave the students insight as to the job requirements, duties, responsibilities and educational requirements of their particular specialties. The program was organized by Mrs. Leuida Hull, guidance counselor, with the assistance of Gail Davis, business education instructor and many student aides.

Ms. Davis said the students selected three careers they were interested in and attended those programs.

Older American Month observed

BELLE GLADE—In recognition of Older American Month, seniors attending the Palm Beach County Senior Citizen Center celebrated the birthdays of those seniors born during the month of May.

Mrs. Effie McNair, center director said Mike Saunders, Commissioner Bill Bailey's administrative assistant, Ms. Kriste Mennella, executive director of the Association for Retarded Citizens—Glades Area and Mrs. Gladys G. Ganzy, assistant director of the Planning and Community Development Department for the City of Belle Glades attended the celebration.

"The center gives a birthday party at the end of every month, however the May birthday party was extra special, not only did we celebrate birthdays, but the staff also honored and recognized the seniors for their contributions to the community," said Mrs. McNair.

Seniors honored during Older American Month were Johnny Carr, Lillie M. Davis, Joseph Jones, Vanessa Jones, Mable Stallworth, Walter Watson and Lemon Williams.

Also participating in the birthday party were 60 other senior citizens. The seniors attend the center five days a week from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The center daily offers its clients basic educational courses, nutrition classes, and arts and crafts.

Mrs. McNair said at least one day a week the seniors are visited by a representative of various community services agencies.

Persons interested in taking part in the part that are 60 years and older can call 366-1771 for additional information or transportation to the center.

"If you are 60 and above, we might even celebrate your birthday next year," said Mrs. McNair.

Officials urge hiring juveniles this summer

School will soon be out for the year and the important task of finding a job in a very limited market will be facing hundreds of unemployed teenagers; some of whom will have graduated from high school and will be job hunting.

A certain percent will turn to crime to help solve their financial problems or to vanquish the boredom.

State Attorney David Bludworth believes that the business community and the media sources have a rare opportunity to help keep the escalating costs of juvenile crime from "going over the top." He believes that young people will be more inclined to avoid crime as a solution to their problems if they feel that the adult business community is behind them in their efforts.

"By offering our young adults much needed employment, especially during the summer months when school is out, the business community can greatly help keep the crime rate down and thus save themselves and other taxpayers a lot of money," Bludworth said. "By wisely investing a few thousand dollars in salaries for the young workers now, untold thousands of public tax funds may be saved through keeping young people off the streets and out of jails," he pointed out.

Bludworth believes there is a real connection between youthful crime and a lack of concern on the part of the adult business world in helping young people find jobs.

The State Attorney also called on the media outlets to provide young job-seekers with no-cost-to-them, job-wanted advertising during the critical non-school months. "No one wants to see our young people get off on the wrong foot," he said. "I, therefore, call on our newspapers, radio stations, and some other media sources and the operators of businesses that might employ teenagers, to join me in this important crusade against the rising crime rate among juveniles by showing them we adults do care!"

"We'll all be better off if you do," Bludworth promised.

The Palm Beach County State Attorney's office is pleased to recognize an outstanding and creative program on the part of local senior citizen groups in the never-ending fight against crime. We are especially anxious to commend Samuel Goldenberg and Rafi Marchese of Boynton Beach who have spearheaded the enclosed victim program. We hope the media will give wide and deserved coverage to their efforts which may encourage other similar public-spirited groups to develop a comparable program on their own.

Bell offers telephone safety tips, 3 situations outlined

What do you think is one of the safest devices found in the home or office? If you guessed the telephone, you're right, according to Southern Bell.

Southern Bell Local Manager, Bob White says, "The Bell System has always designed, manufactured and installed its telephones and related equipment with customer safety in mind. However, there are three situations where a telephone user should exercise some caution."

White recommends that you do not use a telephone while you're in a tub, shower or swimming pool. You can use a phone safely near water, but never take a set into the water. Although a telephone is insulated and a low voltage device, it could energize the water if it were immersed. If you drop a phone in the water, pull it out by the cord and not by handling the set itself.

Another safety tip is to refrain from using a phone during an electrical storm. If you must make a call, keep it brief. Lightning could strike either the telephone wires or the building where the phone is located and the telephone user could be shocked.

"Telephones have protective devices to stop power surges, but lightning strikes carry so much electricity that it is virtually impossible to ensure complete protection," White explains.

A third area for caution is when you have a suspected gas leak. The telephone, like a light switch, contains electrical contacts which could generate a spark when the handset is lifted and the phone dialed. It is unlikely, but not impossible that this spark could trigger an explosion if sufficient gas was in the vicinity.

"We are unaware of any injuries attributed to a telephone in the case of using a phone in water or in a gas filled area," says White. "However, there have been a few cases where it appeared a person was struck by lightning while using a telephone. We urge all our subscribers to use some common sense when using a phone in situations involving water, gas and lightning.
